Shell Oil fined Record settlement announced here

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Although it includes the highest single fine ever assessed in an Illinois environmental case, Shell Oil Co. is calling the settlement of a 26-month-old lawsuit "very fair."

At a press conference in Granite City, Illinois Attorney General Roland Burris announced the record fine of $550,000 as part of a negotiated settlement of the suit against Shell Oil's Madison County refinery, located in Wood River.

The suit, originally filed in September 1989 and expanded three times in 1990, dealt with 22 separate allegations of air, water and ground pollution between late-1987 and mid-1990.

The settlement requires Shell Oil to perform corrective and remedial actions that will include extensive studies, set up a monitoring system, and clean up polluted areas.

Burris said the settlement contains everything the state could have hoped for in a court decision.

He added that Shell Oil's progress in meeting the settlement's requirements will be closely monitored by his office and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

"Ultimately, the cost (of this settlement) to Shell will be in the millions of dollars and may well go into the tens of millions," Burris said.

He said the previous record fine had been around $400,000.

The money from the Shell fine will go into the Illinois Environmental Trust Fund.

"Most of all, (this settlement) demonstrates our resolve to attack major environmental problems head-on, not to turn the other way," Burris said.

"But we're not ignoring the fact that Shell is an important part of the economic life of this region. We want to clean them up, not run them out."

Tony Canino, a spokesman for Shell Oil, said the company expects its costs in the settlement will "definitely run into millions" of dollars.

"We don't have an exact number, but we've already spent a significant amount of money. We've already done a number of corrections and have already cleaned up one of the hazards, have another cleanup under way and have two to three more planned," Canino said.

"We consider the settlement fair and believe it

Overlooked belt cited in death

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — A Madison County coroner's jury has recommended that the Alton Police Department follow its standard procedures more carefully after a Madison man in his jail strangled to death with his belt.

Capt. Allen Tuetken of the Alton police said that it is standard procedure for officers to confiscate belts from prisoners.

William K. Champion, 36, was found unconscious in his cell about noon April 21 when an officer brought him lunch, Tuetken said.

The officer reported that Champion had his belt, which measured just over four feet in length, "wrapped tightly" around his throat.

"Apparently the officer had overlooked it because his (Champion's) shirt was out," Tuetken said of the belt.

Champion was being held at the jail, pending felony theft charges. He had been arrested at 2:40 p.m. April 20 at the Alton Square shopping center, where he allegedly had been shoplifting.

An officer had spoken with Champion in his cell at 7 a.m. April 21 and had returned to check on him and three other prisoners about every 30 minutes, Tuetken said.

Tuetken said there was no indication that Champion had tried to hang himself in the cell. Tuetken said the flat walls and flush-mounted light fixture in each cell left little opportunity for a prisoner to hang himself.

Champion was admitted to St. Anthony's Hospital, Alton, at 12:40 p.m. April 21 and was pronounced dead in the Intensive Care Unit there at 8:17 a.m. April 22.

A report prepared by Coroner's Investigator Roger Smith said Champion had a history of shoplifting and was undergoing therapy for compulsive kleptomania.

A laborer for the Nestle Co. in Granite City, Champion had been laid off for a week two weeks before his death, Smith's report said.

Champion's wife, Barbara, declined comment. It is not known whether legal action against the Alton police department is planned but attorney Art Margulies was present with the family at the inquest. He could not be reached for comment.

The jury also ruled that the death of a Godfrey man, whose body was discovered last month in the Mississippi River, was a suicide.

Peter B. Johnston, 49, had disappeared Jan. 10 on the Clark Bridge in Alton. His 1987 Pontiac Sunbird was discovered on the bridge by police shortly after 8:30 that night.

The vehicle's hood was up, the emergency flashers were on and a door was open but the car was in running condition, Sgt. Rick McCain of the Alton police said.

McCain said there was no indication of foul play at the scene but an investigation is continuing.

McCain said relatives had reported that Johnston had been experiencing both family and financial problems. Johnston, a sales representative for L.J. Ross Construction Co. in Granite City, had lived in Glen Carbon for about 20 years prior to a divorce several years ago.

Sales tax hike nears passage

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — If a City Council measure passes as expected, the next $100 purchase you make here might cost $100.25.

The City Council placed on first reading Tuesday night an ordinance increasing the city's tax on retail sales from 1.75 percent to 2 percent.

The total sales tax collected in the city would go from 7.25 to 7.5 cents on the dollar.

The Sept. 1 tax increase, if passed by June 1, is expected to generate $134,720 in revenue for the city in the 1991-92 fiscal year, officials said.

This would offset $112,500 scheduled to be lost due to the Sales Tax Reform Act, which takes effect Sept. 1 and prohibits the city from taxing food and drugs sold in the municipality.

The current 7.25-cent sales tax is composed of 5 cents for the state government, 1.75 cents for the city, 25-cent for the Madison County government and 25-cent for the Madison County Transit District, City Comptroller K.P. MacTaggart said.

The city portion of the statewide sales tax initially was set at 1 cent, with a similar amount going to the county on sales occurring in unincorporated areas.

The added city sales tax authority beyond 1 cent stems from Granite City's status as a home-rule municipality.

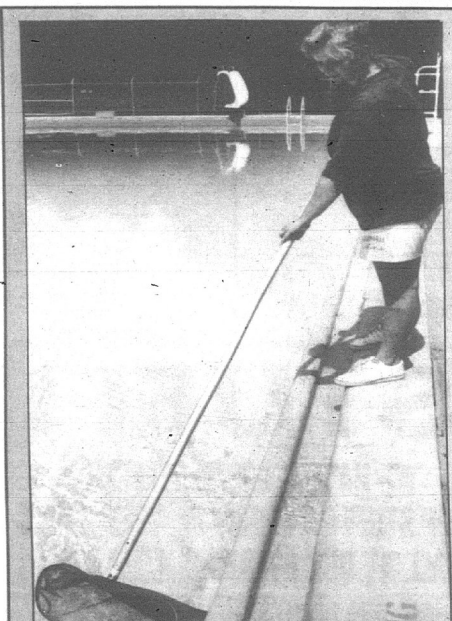

Food and drug sales already are exempt from the 5-cent state share and the 25-cent county supplementary tax, MacTaggart said, making the current tax on those items 2 percent, 1.75 for the city and .25 for mass transit.

To compensate for the revenue to be lost starting in September, the City Council proposes increasing the home-rule tax on non-food and non-drug purchases from .75 percent to 1 percent.

Purchases of items which must be registered with the state, such as automobiles, mobile homes and recreational vehicles, would be exempt from the increase, according to the ordinance.

MacTaggart estimates the new tax would generate $223,353 annually, but because the tax would not take effect until Sept. 1, and because there is a

Victim in truck fire had been strangled

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A Jonesboro, Ark. man, found dead last month in his truck here, was already dead when the vehicle was set on fire, a pathologist's report said.

During an inquest Wednesday, Madison County Coroner Dallas M. Burke said the cause of Lester R. Brewer's death was manual strangulation.

Brewer's body, which had first- and second-degree burns on the ears, face and chest, was discovered in his GMC Sierra Grande pickup truck about 8:15 a.m. April 8.

The truck was parked in the 4700 block of Kirkpatrick Homes where Brewer, 55, had arrived three days earlier to visit his daughter, Susan Migneron, 28.

According to Det. Ned Tapp of the Granite City Police Department, the gas cap had been removed from the truck and a piece of cloth inserted.

The flammable liquid used to ignite a fire in the truck's catalyzed flash patterns inside the truck, Tapp said.

Two days after the body was discovered, Migneron's boyfriend, Steven Wall, 29, of Cahokia, and a companion of his, Robert Sharp, 30, of Madison, were charged.

Wall was charged with one count of concealment of a homicidal death and one count of arson. Sharp was charged with two counts of first-degree murder and one count each of arson and concealment of a homicidal death.

Both men are being held in the Madison County Jail.

Wall told police when the body was discovered that he and Brewer had been drinking at several locations in Cahokia the night before.

Wall also told police that Brewer decided to sleep in the truck because he did not feel comfortable staying at his daughter's apartment.

Furke said Brewer had only begun visiting his daughter for the first time in several years in November.

Wall said he took the truck's keys to prevent Brewer from driving while intoxicated. Toxicology reports revealed that Brewer's blood alcohol level was .311, three times the legal level.

Blood gets safer here

By Ronald Sammons
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — In an effort to make the nation's blood supply as safe as possible, the National Red Cross will begin reorganizing its 52 blood bank regions this fall.

"These regions do all of the collecting, testing and distributing of blood. It's all regulated by the FDA (Food and Drug Administration), but each of the regions has begun to do its own thing," said Ron Streiler, manager of the Tri-City Chapter of the Red Cross.

The consolidation of the 52 regional sites into eight national testing centers — and the addition of a new computer system linking those centers — will make the tracking of blood products and the testing more uniform, he said.

"St. Louis has a very good chance of being chosen as one of the eight centers," Streiler said, "because of its size and the fact that it's a commercial hub, with its airports and Interstate 4."

Other factors that make St. Louis a good candidate are that the Red Cross facility there already has most of the equipment needed, and it is the fifth largest blood region in the nation, Streiler said.

Consolidations and job losses sometimes go hand in hand, but Steve Kendall, spokesman for the Missouri/Illinois Blood Ser-

Girl hit by car was being chased by 3 youngsters

A 13-year-old girl was struck by a vehicle while she was being chased by three boys across a highway at 3 p.m. May 17.

Cynthia L. Carli, 3100 block of Kirkpatrick Homes was injured when she ran out in front of a car operated by Mary A. Hillmer, 41, of the 2100 block of Troy Avenue, Madison.

Hillmer said she was driving north on Nameoki Road near Victory Drive when the girl ran in front of her 1972 Ford and was struck by the car.

Two witnesses at the scene reported seeing the boys chasing the girl, causing her to run out in front of the vehicle.

Cynthia sustained injuries and was taken by Granite City Fire Department ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

An officer went to the emergency room and talked with the girl, who said that two of the boys were chasing her and hitting her with a stick and one boy was kicking her.

She was trying to get away from the boys when she was hit by the car, she said.

The oldest boy was 13 and the other two boys were 12. One of the 12-year-old boys had run home after the accident and was very upset about the girl being hurt, police said.

The mother of the victim declined to sign complaints and no charges were filed against the boys.

Arrested on warrants

Two men were arrested at a residence in the 2600 block of Lincoln Avenue on May 16 after police were sent to the area upon receiving reports of a loud party.

At the house, the resident asked police to remove Matt Hoyt Hatfield, 18, of the 4200 block of Illinois 162.

A warrant against Hatfield alleging failure to appear on a charge of criminal damage to property was served and he was arrested.

Robert John Krause, 21, of the 4200 block of Bruene Avenue, Ponton Beach, was found lying in a car with the door open in front of the Lincoln Avenue residence.

Krause was arrested on two warrants, obtained by Ponton Beach and Madison authorities. Those warrants cited failure to appear on traffic charges.

Gets prison term

Robert G. Fisher Jr., 27, of the 1600 block of Moro Avenue was sentenced last week to four years and eight months in a state prison for burglary.

Madison County Circuit Judge Edward C. Ferguson handed down the sentence May 13. Ferguson ruled Fisher is to be given credit for time served since March 8 and that he be placed in a GED (General Education Development) program.

Ferguson further ruled that the sentence run concurrently with any sentences to be imposed for parole violations.

The charge stems from the March 8 burglary of AMSCO Mechanical in Granite City.

Vandal breaks window

A 4-by-8-foot plate glass window at Central Bank, 2400 Madison Ave., was smashed by a vandal apparently using a combination lock, which was found laying on the ground, it was reported May 17.

The window, located just north of the entry doors at the front of the building, will cost between $800 and $1,000 to replace.

Police serve warrant

Sent to halt a reported disturbance in the 3300 block of Kirkpatrick Homes at 9:15 p.m. May 17, officers arrested Dennis Allen Watkins, 19, of the 1300 block of Kirkpatrick on a warrant alleging criminal damage to property. Watkins posted $175 bail and was released.

$680 jewelry missing

Robert Cochran of the 2000 block of 13th Street reported May 17 that someone had entered his dwelling and stolen several pieces of jewelry from the kitchen area.

Missing were a man's gold ring with a diamond, valued at $350, a gold leaf pinky ring worth $100 and gold nugget earrings valued at $230.

House repair fraud charged

A Granite City area man was arrested on a felony warrant for aggravated home repair fraud following a chase by Madison police on Tuesday.

John G. Wells, 24, of the 700 block of East Chain of Rocks Road was arrested in a blue and gray 1991 Chevrolet Silverado pickup truck on 16th Street between State Street and Grand Avenue at 1:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Wells was wanted on a warrant charging him with aggravated home repair fraud. According to an information issued by Madison County State's Attorney William Haine, Wells promised to do home repairs for Dena M. Beaver, 86, of the 3000 block of Nameoki Drive — repairs which Wells allegedly knew he would not perform.

A police report says Wells told Beaver he would recast her trailer roof for $150. Beaver told police Wells was on the roof "not more than 10 minutes." April 2, and she wrote him a check for $150.

That evening, Beaver said, Wells returned to say he had lost the check, and to request she write him another, which she did. She found out April 3 that Wells had cashed both checks, the report states.

A Granite City officer received a call from Madison police of a chase in progress, heading to Granite City. By the time a Granite City officer arrived, a Madison policeman had Wells in custody.

The chase related to a suspected traffic offense. Wells was held pending $1,500 bail.

4-year prison term ordered

Fred Ware, 20, of the 200 block of Watson Road, Madison area, was sentenced May 9 to four years in prison on each count of possession of cannabis with intent to deliver and possession of a weapon by a felon.

Associate Judge J. Lawrence Keshner ruled that the sentences are to be served concurrently.

Ware was found with more than 30 but less than 500 grams of cannabis and with a loaded 9mm pistol. He had been convicted on a drug charge in June 1990.

Between May 24 and June 1, the American Red Cross will conduct two blood drives and one disaster training course in this area.

The blood drives will be held at different sites and will be open to the general public for blood donations.

The disaster training will be conducted at the Tri-City Red Cross Chapter office, located at 3726 Nameoki Road in Granite City.

Those wishing to receive the disaster instruction will need to preregister for the course to make sure they have met all prerequisite requirements, it was announced.

On Friday, May 24, the American Red Cross will conduct a blood drive, sponsored by the U.S. Army Charles Melvin Price Support Center, Illinois 3 and Niedringhaus Avenue, Granite City. The drive at the military base will be held in the Education Center there from 8:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m.

On Tuesday, May 28, the Red Cross will conduct a blood drive in cooperation with the Tri-City Red Cross Chapter.

The drive will be held in the new area of the Eagles Aerie 1126 Home, 2558 Madison Ave., Granite City. This drive is open to the public and will be conducted from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

The American Red Cross is urging all healthy adults, 17 years of age or older, and 16-year-olds who have their parents' permission, to donate blood.

Since the end of the Persian Gulf war, blood donations have decreased but The need for blood has not decreased, a spokesman said. He added:

"With the summer months here, blood usage will be even higher due to increased travel and accidents and more elective surgeries."

The Tri-City Chapter will be conducting the disaster training course, entitled "Mass Care I," on Saturday, June 1.

This course will teach disaster volunteers how to properly provide care for victims in a mass shelter, of the kind that would be established during a large-scale disaster.

Included will be shelter registration, inventory tasks and mass feeding.

The course will be held at the chapter office from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

All interested volunteers may preregister for the course by calling the Red Cross office at 452-7184.

OK surcharge, forge ahead

The state Legislature has better things to do than continue stalling with a decision on making permanent the state income tax surcharge implemented on a temporary basis two years ago.

In recent days we have seen much infighting in both the House and the Senate over the need for the surcharge, where the funds would go, and the politics of the issue. Much posturing, but behind it all is appearances. How will a continued tax look back home?

Well, back home it looks pretty bad. But not from Joe Taxpayer's viewpoint. We've been hearing mostly from school and local governments pleading for action. With most of them in the middle of the budget process, they are desperate to see where they stand with the surcharge, so they can see what kinds of difference they must make up to meet their own expenses.

The Granite City school system and city government are struggling with deficit situations that could be greatly aided by the surcharge funds.

Madison County government, already staggered by anticipated loss of revenue from the recent voter decision to incorporate Godfrey Township into the Village of Godfrey, can only guess what its budget situation might be without the surcharge funds.

All this adds up to big trouble in the state of Illinois. If we can't get decisiveness in Springfield, the home front will suffer.

Approve the surcharge.

Pontoon's library problems

The recent resignation of the second library board official in three months makes one wonder just what is becoming of Pontoon Beach's grand plan to run a library on its own. Last week, citing political differences with other board members, Robbie Wilson resigned her position as director and president of the free library. On Feb. 12, Alice Lucas resigned her board position. In addition to being a leader in establishing the library, Lucas was board secretary.

Among her reasons for quitting, Wilson cited actions by fellow board members Judy Merritt and Susan Bryant to amend the library's bylaws, in direct conflict with the advice of legal counsel, and replace members of the volunteer library committee.

We don't presume to know everything going on behind the scenes in Pontoon Beach, but the latest developments hearken back to a year ago, when we were urging Pontoon Beach to become a part of the Granite City library system (now a district) and Pontoon officials kept saying they didn't need Granite City to run their own library.

We are convinced that the Granite City district's annexation of the Pontoon Beach area would be the best possible move for those who enjoy varied, complete library services. True, it would mean a tax upon Pontoon residents, but that is a tax shared equally by residents of the community at large. For a few cents a year, Pontoon Beach could invest in a lifetime of literary benefits and not worry if there will be enough volunteers to man the operation.

Those who see the difference should approach Granite City about re-establishing the ties that were broken after the issue was first discussed so long ago.

Deer, you were something

So far this year, in the 25-county area surrounding us, there have been 403 deer reportedly killed by vehicles. Saturday night, I added one to the list.

I was coming home from a Scout outing near Pere Marquette Park on the River Road north of Alton. It had been a long day, it was pitch dark and I had a car full of kids. Suddenly from the brush on the river side of the road sprang a small deer.

Whap! It bounced off the hood and rolled along the driver side of the car and tumbled into the darkness behind us. By the time I could slow up enough to see what happened, I thought I had hit a mirror. We were a quarter mile down the road. I could see headlights veering different directions, and I knew instinctively that somebody was pulling over to check on the animal.

With at least one kid crying and the car's five occupants all scared witless, I was in no position to turn around. And even if I did, what would I do? I'm no hunter.

I was more worried about my car. I knew there was a gas station within a short distance, so I continued on to get a lighted view of the damage.

I pulled into the Grafton Amoco about two miles away and looked at the big dent in the hood of my car. Another car pulled alongside and the driver, aware of what had happened, told me a van owner had "taken care" of the deer as he thrashed about on the side of the road. It didn't make me feel much better, but at least I knew I wouldn't have to go back.

From the station's pay phone, I called the Jersey County Sheriff's Department to file an official report for insurance purposes. Funny feeling, doing that by phone, but the deputy said things were so busy that Saturday night he couldn't free up anyone for a personal visit.

"Does it look like more than $250 damage?" he asked me. "If I was a betting man, it does," I replied. It only takes a scratch to rack up $250, I thought.

Region IV of the Illinois Department of Conservation told me the River Road is a common site for deer kills. Last year DOC filed 1,096 kill reports in a 25-county area, which includes Madison, Jersey, Monroe and St. Clair.

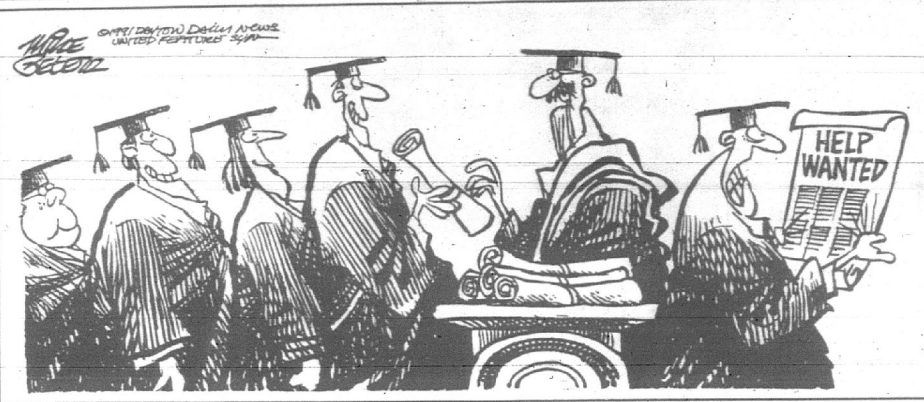

However, DOC only keeps reports when someone has indicated he is going to keep part of the deer, as freezer meat or a trophy piece. Additionally, DOC has no idea how many people hit deer and never say a word about it.

As a motorist I've come close to deer on several occasions in the area around SIU at Edwardsville, where the animals are in abundance.

The rule of the road is first come, first served, in or out of season, and I've heard there are many people who jump at the chance to haul off a road-kill deer. DOC says some police departments even have lists of people to contact, in case drivers, like me, are repulsed by the idea of hauling away a dead deer.

My father was luckier than this particular Bambi-like creature. DOC said many people are killed by such run-deers. For me, the shock has long since worn off, but the thought of seeing a deer appear from nowhere in the dead of night won't soon be forgotten.

Hypocrisy, double standards cited

To the editor:

When I built this artificial grave in my front yard I did not think for a minute that it would start a small controversy, which would turn into a situation where I would need to publicly defend my purpose.

It being so, I called the Granite City Press-Record in hopes of helping everyone understand that my reason for building this grave is to symbolize where this country is headed.

Evil is destroying us through deception because we are defeating our own purpose when we advertise about a drug-free America while at the same time it is legal to print and publish magazines that tell everyone how to make drugs.

Another example: we try to teach our children that fighting never solves or proves anything. Then, professional wrestling teaches everything contrary to what we teach our children: the wrestlers display hatred, revenge and gang-fights.

Then we teach against teen-age pregnancy, while sex is our most popular entertainment. Take a bite out of crime, they say. But if we kill the man that's climbing through the window we go to prison. If we harm him, he sues us and gets everything anyway.

We write stiff laws against drinking and driving but it's still legal to serve alcohol in sports arenas nationwide.

Meanwhile, from seeing people's anger today, it seems like today's moral philosophy is: "I'll lie to you but you better not lie to me." "I'll rob you but you better not rob me." "I'll romance your mate but you better not touch mine."

What it boils down to is that we have become what we have learned, and all we're learning today is that "Home Box Office is simply the best," "a party is where it's at," and "it's all brewed in God's country."

May is also a patriotic month

To the editor:

Most Americans think of July as our nation's "patriotic month." But May should be remembered for some significant patriotic events which were extremely important to our independence and freedom.

In May 1765, Patrick Henry introduced resolutions on the floor of the Virginia House of Burgesses that condemned the British Parliament and the Crown for taxation without representation.

It was startling and dangerous. Interrupted by cries of "treason," he replied: "If this be treason, make the most of it." On May 16, 1776, George Washington presented "Resolves" drafted by George Mason declaring that only the colonies themselves had the right to levy taxes and that Americans could not be taken to England for prosecution and trial.

In the Mecklenburg Resolves on May 31, 1776, North Carolina patriots declared that British laws were whereby suspended. These statements stirred the fires of independence in American hearts.

On May 6, 1776, the Virginia Convention met in Williamsburg with instructions by the constituents to "cast off the British yoke." The delegates, instructed their representatives to the Continental Congress to "declare the United Colonies free and independent states."

The Illinois Society, Sons of the American Revolution, urges all Americans this month to remember with gratitude the courage, wisdom and commitment exemplified by these founding forefathers, and to emulate them.

Don't allow pets to run loose

To the editor:

Buster wasn't his real name. I don't even know if he had a real name, or a home. I named him Buster just before he died.

He was a black Labrador mix puppy that had been hit by a car on a busy highway in Collinsville. Neither I nor Dr. Spencer in Troy, who gave up his Saturday night to help, were much help to him. Before he died, Buster suffered.

The people who hit Buster stopped to help. It wasn't their fault. Buster's death was not the result of a speeding car, but the result of an uncaring and irresponsible owner.

Buster was not wearing any collar or identification tag. He was only a puppy, less than six months old. He couldn't have understood the dangers of a four-lane highway.

He was obviously underfed and not well cared for. There was another dog with Buster when he was hit. Perhaps he was Buster's litter-mate. He escaped unharmed. For now.

Please, if you have a pet, don't allow it to run loose.

Not only do you expose your pet to such dangers as cars, poisons and guns, but you annoy your neighbors who must "live" with your pet.

Always put a collar and identification tag on your pet. Approximately 100 lost and unclaimed pets are euthanized at the Madison County pound each week.

And most importantly, don't allow your dog or cat to breed indiscriminately. There simply aren't enough good homes for all the dogs and cats already born.

I only knew Buster for a couple of hours. But he was brave and he fought to live. Before he died, he was loved.

The saddest fact is that there are hundreds more out there just like him. If you love your pet, please have it spayed or neutered and keep it home.

Don't let your pet reproduce more animals who will suffer Buster's fate.

Coverage rates principal's praise

To the editor:

On behalf of our students, faculty and parents, I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your coverage of our good-gates dance.

I know that you are bombarded with requests from various schools for coverage of their activities.

I am also aware that as editor, you must make decisions as to what is really "newsworthy" and what the general public is interested in. We are honored that our event received a color photo in the lead spot on your front page.

It was good to feel that events are special. The more special they are, the more they will work to be included.

Our school was buzzing about being on the "front page in color." You helped to make this event a special one. We are confident that our efforts for next year will result in many more students making the grade.

I would also like to thank Pam Hurd for coming and taking pictures in her off hours. The extra effort on her part is most appreciated.

Lot of time, work was contributed

To the editor:

On behalf of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and ourselves, we would like to thank all of the fine work that was done for our annual cleanup campaign. Each volunteer contributed with valuable time and a sincere interest in improving our communities.

Improving our communities is an everlasting effort, and our committee will be constantly striving to make our areas a better place to live and raise a family.

Our job is made much easier with the cooperation we have received from local people.

Please relay to all connected with the cleanup campaign our thanks for making this year's project such a success.

The Chamber of Commerce will be looking forward to everyone's help and cooperation this time next year.

Group says thanks for youth salute

To the editor:

The Youth Achievement Committee wants to express deep gratitude to you and your staff for the interest and enthusiasm you have shown for our program.

The day was absolutely superb and your pictorial review in Thursday's paper really sets the stage and gives us the momentum needed to succeed.

The credentials of the Gold Medal winners and Group Award recipients were unbelievable. It is difficult to believe that the department heads and Richard Miller can continue to select such an outstanding group.

It was an enjoyable afternoon of family activity and dining. And the Military Salute to Desert Storm was capped off by a terrific performance of the U.S. Army Aviation Systems Command Choir; they received a standing ovation.

As you can see, we are most grateful for your part in this endeavor of presenting Granite City with the very best our school district is producing.

Absolutely against the abortion pill

To the editor:

I am absolutely opposed to the introduction of the abortion pill RU-486 into the United States.

The abortion pill is directly linked to the German parent company Hoechst A.D., the majority stockholder of the French abortion pill-maker, Roussel Uclaf.

RU-486 is not a contraceptive. It kills an unborn baby whose heart has begun to beat. There is only one proven use for the death pill: to kill babies.

The abortion drug is very dangerous to women. Complications, including profuse bleeding, are not 1 percent, as we've been told, but 2 percent.

The percentage of incomplete abortions is not 5 percent, but rather 10 percent, and rising. The first generation of women using RU-486 will be "guinea pigs."

Babies who are not "successfully" aborted run a real risk of being born severely deformed. There is also a risk that female children of RU-486 users will develop cancer or deformities of the reproductive tract.

Keep the death pill out of the United States.

Thanks for games at McDonald's

To the editor:

As a senior citizen I would like to thank McDonald's on Madison Avenue for having bingo every Tuesday morning, because it gives us something to do and they are so nice to us and we all have a good time.

Hopefully, they will keep having bingo for us.

7 Home Pride Award winners announced

Today, seven property owners can be proud.

The seven are the first in what is hoped to be a long, continuing list of Home Pride Award winners in the area.

The new program, sponsored by the Community Pride Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and the Press-Record/Journal, chooses property owners on the basis of the appearance of yard and home and is intended to boost public awareness of those who contribute to neighborhood care, according to committee Chairman Greg Mathes.

Winners were chosen on the basis of nomination from the public, and nominations were solicited by the newspaper. Depending on the number of nominations received the rest of this summer, the program will continue each month through October, Mathes said. It is hoped to become an annual event.

Many of the nominations were accompanied by letters explaining the reason the home was being nominated. Other letters let the home speak for itself. All of the properties were viewed prior to final selection. Other nominations will be considered in the weeks ahead, said Mathes.

The chosen will be receiving a letter of notification from the chamber; a certificate; and a yard sign that can be displayed on a temporary basis to let others know of the honor.

The Press-Record/Journal will be announcing all future winners as time and space allows.

The first round of winners includes only Granite City recipients, because no homes in nearby communities were nominated. The program is open to all communities in the Quad City area.

Following are some of the comments received with the first letters of nomination:

The awards will continue monthly through October and are intended to honor pride reflected in the appearance of one's home and surroundings.

The booth will feature food items as in the past. Tom Wilkerson will be chairman.

Charles Kuralt is convinced that big news happens in small towns

First of two columns

This has been a spring of much travel. Last week, I reached a high point — a Rocky Mountain high.

We saw Charles Kuralt of CBS-TV receive an honorary degree, doctor of humane letters, from Colorado University.

But we were there mainly because our niece, Julie Kies, was receiving an earned degree, bachelor of science in business.

A TOTAL OF 3,400 students obtained degrees May 17 at CU's Coors Center in Boulder.

To lead up to today's topic, visualize Frank Sinatra singing "New York, New York." There's a line that says, "Those little town blues are melting away."

Kuralt never has felt blue about seeing small towns. In fact, traveling about the nation with a camera crew in a recreational vehicle, he has built his broadcasting career around rural villages.

As CU sees it, Kuralt is a "writer, reporter, columnist and quintessential perfect example of a broadcast journalist."

"HE HAS CAPTURED the essence of our country with his sensitive, gentle artistry, weaving a pictorial tapestry into a portrait of America."

"Mr. Kuralt's CBS broadcasts of 'On the Road,' 'Sunday Morning' and 'America Tonight' shine a spotlight on all that is good in America without ignoring the plight and problems that also exist."

"More than any other television personality, he presents a picture of the great human strength that is the core of our country."

"HIS GROUNDBREAKING work has set the standard by which human interest reporting is measured, and has been duly recognized by his peers with nine Emmy awards and three George Foster Peabody awards."

"He was named 1983 International Broadcaster of the Year by the International Radio and Television Society and is the author of six best-selling books."

Bill Winter

Carolina, receiving a bachelor's degree in 1955.

His first reporting jobs were for the campus newspaper and the Charlotte, N.C., News, where his writing received the Ernie Pyle Award.

He was recruited by the Columbia Broadcasting System in radio and TV news first as writer and then — as his on-camera skills developed — in evening news, public affairs programs, political reporting, national elections and foreign correspondence.

KURALT SERVED as the CBS Latin American correspondent in all 23 Latin nations. He was sent on four tours of duty in Vietnam during the war, and reported from the Arctic Ocean.

He is now known by all and is widely regarded as "the much-loved grandpa of national broadcast journalism."

Certainly, he has demonstrated that not only beautiful or handsome people can get ahead in TV news. There is also a place for bald, pot-bellied people, and his new doctoral cap neatly concealed his baldness.

UNIVERSITY OFFICIALS have a warm place in their heart for him. They said, "Kuralt has employed the powerful medium of broadcasting to extend knowledge of our neighbors and, more importantly, increase our tolerance of diversity."

"He blazed new trails in electronic journalism to create an original and refreshing contribution to network TV programming."

"His gentle and humane treatment of the human race and the environment — from country roads to city alleys — has endowed his work with sensitivity, hope and caring."

"HIS MASTERY of the art of storytelling blends the eye of the photographer, the ear of the musician and the pen of the poet."

"He has touched us all — made us laugh and cry — and has done much to enrich our lives." Kuralt himself is a bit more humble about his efforts. He jokingly commented that he wished Dan Rather were here to tell you about (journalism's future); CBS never lets me cover anything important."

HE ACKNOWLEDGED that he has had some successes: "Thanks to Kuralt, 'No musical-saw player, or swimming pig or car that runs on corn cobs goes unremarked on national TV.'"

Addressing 160 CU journalism and mass communication graduates, Kuralt noted that "breaking into the news business" may prove difficult for them due to the current economic recession. Versatility has aided his own career, which includes more than two decades at CBS.

HE TOLD A FEW war stories but clearly preferred animals and oddities, to gunfire or political intrigue.

Along with covering crises and uncovering scandals, Kuralt said, journalists need to remember that such key issues as the environment, feminism and civil rights were popularized by relative unknowns in small communities.

"None of these things originated in Washington. They originated within our country, and that's how it's supposed to be."

Kuralt advised the future journalists to look for "little stories about real people."

"AS YOU GAIN experience in the field, you'll find as I have that there is a lot to be confident about in this country," including compassionate people who are "unsuslily by greed."

He concluded, "People really do care about their community, their country."

"It is that spirit that is placed in the hands of journalists."

Mr. and Mrs. Kenny (Dolores) Lane attended a wedding anniversary dinner Sunday in the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy (Sallie) Lane in their home in St. Charles, Mo. Others present were their children, Sean and Britney, and Mrs. Betty Mueller. Sallie is recovering at home from foot surgery that she had on Friday.

began to develop. To date many yards in the Oaklawn Terrace division have been professionally landscaped.

Regarding the property of Nadine and Gene Frith of 2229 Missouri Ave., "They have a corner lot on which Gene has operated his auction business for the past 31 years. It takes extra time and care to maintain the neatness of a corner and a business, however with Nadine and Gene being retired, the care and pride they take in their home is their means of enjoyment."

On the property of Stephen Dudak, 2328 E. 1st, "Nearly 22 years ago Mr. Dudak designed and built his home with the help of a few friends. Throughout the years, he has spent many countless hours in maintaining his property. His home is always freshly painted and neatly landscaped. He has become widely known as 'The Man with the Barefoot Lawn'."

On the property of A. Scott Borger and Tamra L. Bolte, 3408 Johnson Road, "Since their purchase in May 1990 there has been a total facelift given to the old farmhouse. It definitely is a true showpiece of the community. It serves as an inspiration to the rest of the neighbors."

"It is not anticipated that this reorganization will cause any job loss. It may even add people to the system if St. Louis becomes one of the eight centers," he said.

Kendall agreed that St. Louis is a potential location for a major center, but said, "No decisions have been made yet, and things will remain dormant until October."

In the meantime, all regional blood programs will be upgraded as part of major efforts to increase the safety of the blood supply. The goal is to keep it free of the viruses that cause AIDS and hepatitis.

The plan was announced Monday in San Diego by Elizabeth Dole, president of the American National Red Cross.

On an alternating basis, each of the Red Cross blood sites will be closed for a few days or up to two months while computer and blood-testing procedures are revised and employees are retrained.

When the St. Louis Bistate Chapter blood program is temporarily shut down, other sites will stock extra supplies of blood products for transfer to this area.

Eighty counties in Illinois and Missouri are served by the St. Louis chapter, which collects 270,000 pints of blood annually.

•Sale tax

(Continued from Page 1A) three-month "window" in which the taxes are processed, the city would not receive the increase until December, more than seven months into FY 1992.

MacTaggart figures the loss in revenue from the abolished food and drug tax will be $270,000 per year.

Alderman Casmer Skubish strongly urged passage of the new tax ordinance.

"Ten years ago we had a deficit and imposed a three-quarter cent retail sales tax. It helped us to get out of debt," Skubish said.

The proposed tax increase, if enacted, will amount to an additional 25 cents on a $100 purchase, MacTaggart said. "It will be up to the discretion of the shopper to decide whether he can afford an extra quarter or 50 cents when buying a television, for example."

Mayor Von Dee Cruse has said the sales tax is "really only pennies (to the consumer), but with the large number of purchases in the city, those pennies can add up to a significant amount of revenue for the city."

The tax ordinance was placed on first reading by a 11-0 vote, with Paul Fisk, Dan Partney and Jeff Worthen absent. Aldermen Walter Milton (chairman) and Virgil Kambarian of the city's Finance Committee both emphasized at a committee meeting last week they will not vote to adopt an increase in tax revenue until all "fat" is trimmed from city spending.

The process of reviewing annual departmental budget requests began last night, and is expected to be finished in a few days.

The council is expected to consider giving final approval to the sales tax ordinance May 28.

with the order. "And if Shell doesn't, they will automatically be in contempt," Burris said. "Then it is a matter of us taking it directly to the judge and getting a fine or whatever else the judge sees fit to give."

Canino said Shell, which admits no wrongdoing or liability as part of the settlement, regrets the incidents occurred.

"It's not our way of doing business. We have taken action to see that they don't recur and will do all we can to correct the damage they caused," Canino said.

Burris said Shell's conduct during negotiations and the corrective steps Shell has taken so far have convinced him the company intends to comply fully

News in review

News in review provides a summary of some of the past week's stories. This column is designed for out-of-town readers who do not receive the Sunday and Wednesday Press-Record/Journals.

Steelworkers in Granite City under the impression that National Steel Corp. plans to ask for contract renegotiations are wrong, according to the company.

The parent company of Granite City Steel also dismissed persistently rumored plans to use reorganization under Chapter 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy Code to break the contract.

But in light of the company's $64.4 million loss in the first quarter of the year and the recent announcement that it will have a loss in the second quarter as well, rumors are inevitable.

acknowledged Robert Toothman, director of communications at the company's headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pa.

"And Granite City (Steel) tends to really circulate rumors," Toothman said.

Although the contract rumors at Granite City Steel may be unfounded it is possible steelworkers there will face major changes in the future.

According to National Steel, a configuration study has been done to determine what functions can best be done by each of its three divisions.

Granite City, Midwest, located in Indiana just outside Chicago, and Great Lakes located near Detroit.

That study indicates Granite City Steel has a long-term future in steelmaking and "hot rolling" unfinished steel. But the study says the Midwest Division is better equipped for the cold-rolled galvanizing and coating operations associated with finished steel.

An area business, John Mathes and Associates, has begun work on an irrigation well for an outdoor classroom at the Lake Substation, behind Lake School on Maryville Road. The project, which will allow local students to study a variety of natural habitat, is sponsored by the state Department of Conservation, Illinois Power and Granite City District 9.

Marine reservist Eric Hayes, who refused to report for active duty in the Persian Gulf War, may be released from military confinement in time to attend summer classes at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

A 74-year-old Granite City doctor, M. Gerard Baggot, had his physician's license suspended indefinitely after he allegedly prescribed powerful pain-killers to patients who did not need them. His attorney said he may sue to challenge the decision made by the Illinois Department of Professional Regulation.

Psalm 100:2... "Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing."

The most satisfying and fulfilling experience in one's life is that of serving God. The knowledge that we are doing something for Him fills a need within us that nothing else in the world can.

We were created by Him for His good pleasure. It is God's desire to have fellowship with us. He is most pleased when we are close to Him and certainly we are most happy when He is close to us.

One of the outstanding characteristics of a Christian is his joy. He is happy inside and it shows outside. He serves God with gladness.

Will you serve Him? Today.

Young Blue Devil squad next for Lady Warriors

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The girls should begin to get progressively tougher for the Lady Warrior soccer team.

After rolling to an easy 12-0 win over Cahokia on Saturday in the first round of the Granite City Sectional the Lady Warriors (16-2) will host Quincy (9-5-3) tonight at 7 p.m. in a quarterfinal game at Memorial Stadium. The Blue Devils are a second-year program.

Times for Saturday's semifinals have been changed. Instead of 5:30 and 7:30 p.m., the games will be played at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Springfield High School has its prom Saturday night and asked to play earlier. They would play in the second game. The Lady Warriors would play in the 11 a.m. game.

"We saw Granite City in the Melville tournament last month, and Gene has the girls playing the same way his boys teams do," said Quincy assistant coach Matt Longo. "They are very aggressive and pass the ball well. It will definitely be a tough game, but we're happy to play them. It's not just a recreation sport anymore up here, and our girls will realize that (tonight)."

No. 8 seed Quincy edged No. 9 Rochester 1-0 in a first-round game Tuesday. The Blue Devils are led by junior Erin Ash (eight goals and four assists). Erica fans has seven goals. Angie Wayne and Brandy Six lead the midfield, while senior Penny Bainter is the goalie.

"She gave up 19 goals in 16 games, but 11 of them were in the Melville Tournament," said Longo. "We won't try anything different than what we've been working on all year."

Opportunity calls Warriors

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The Warrior baseball team opens post-season play today in what could be considered the toughest regional in the nation.

Any regional which includes a team ranked No. 1 nationally by some publications should get that consideration. And so it is that Granite City (20-12) and five other teams open play today in hopes of upsetting Edwardsville.

The Tigers are 33-0 this season and carry a 58-game winning streak into the post season. The defending state champs completed their first unbeaten regular season Monday with a 6-2 win over CBC. The Tigers are batting .369 as a team, with no regular lower than .300. The team ERA is 2.53 and they have made only one error in the last 12 games.

"They can be beaten," said

Warrior coach Bob Stegemeier. "There are two teams that have a shot at it. If we get the pitching, we're one of them."

Alton (19-12) is the other team, although the Redbirds have lost four of five games since a recent 11-game winning streak. The Warriors and Redbirds figure to meet in Saturday's semifinal in Edwardsville. But Granite City will have to get past Wood River, (5-20) in today's 4:15 p.m. game at Varsity Field.

"We can look so good one game and so flat the next," said Stegemeier. "We still have to go out and win this one."

Junior Drake Marshall (3-3) figures to start today on the mound. Senior Chris Hill (5-1) likely would get the call Saturday, with Marshall coming back for a possible Monday title game with Edwardsville.

"Hill is the only one we have who could start Saturday and then be available for relief Monday," said Stegemeier. "And we're not giving up on (Brent) Hoppel. Coach (Gus) Lignoul has worked on his delivery and he thinks he has him straightened out."

The Warriors enter the regional with a .311 team batting average. Senior outfielder Ryan Reeves leads the way in most categories. Reeves, named to the West squad for the 1991 Illinois High School All-Star Game to be played in Peoria on June 12, is batting .424 with 36 hits and 33 runs. He has five home runs and 11 doubles for a .753 slugging percentage.

Senior catcher Dan Partney leads the team with 31 RBIs. He's hitting .391 with three home runs and three triples. Other top hitters are senior shortstop Jeff Stephens (.400), senior Mike Nordstrom (.363), senior Erik Lewis (.338) and sophomore Jason Maxfield (.304).

"The seniors have been pretty consistent all year," said Stegemeier. "And Maxfield has really been a pleasant surprise offensively. I thought he would help us in center field without hitting much."

Hill is 5-1 with a 3.10 ERA and has come on strong after a slow start. Marshall is 3-3 with a 3.85 ERA. Dippel is 2-2 with a 2.97 ERA. The Warriors have a solid 3.25 team ERA.

"And our defense has been pretty good," Stegemeier said. "Losing Marc Patton (broken ankle) cut down on our flexibility a little. He was swinging the bat well (.313) when he went down. But I can't complain about the defense (sophomore) Les Nunes has given us."

Added to the roster for the post-season are sophomores Ben Hicks, Jeff Luffman and Billy Herman. A big opportunity awaits them and the rest of the team.

DYNAMIC DUO: Dan Debert (left) and Raffi Karibian open play in the state tennis tournament today in Arlington Heights.

Tennis duo looking to get some respect

By Mike Kolly
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Warrior tennis is looking for a little respect.

Time and again, Granite City has come away emptyhanded at the state tennis tournament. But Raffi Karibian and Dan Debert will try to change those fortunes beginning this afternoon.

Karibian, making his second trip to state, knows the frustration of an early exit.

"I was teamed up with Andy Wolf last year and we were playing some solid tennis when we went up there," Karibian said. "But we just couldn't match up very well against those people. We played a couple of strong matches, but we couldn't avoid the early elimination."

"It would be an honor for us to place up there, but that's hard against the Chicago schools. They just have tremendous talent. Our goal is to make it to the second day. Winning a match up there and avoiding the early elimination would be quite an accomplishment."

Karibian and his sophomore teammate shouldn't be sold short. They teamed up to win the Southwestern Conference doubles championship May 10-11 before taking the sectional title at Belleville West last Saturday. A straight-set victory over Matt Jorgensen and John Lintz of Althoff gave them the title.

"Winning the conference title and the sectional is quite an achievement," Debert said. "Raffi and I have been playing some strong tennis since the Belleville East tournament (April 26-27). He's been a steady player all season, but that tour-

GC softball season comes to an end

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — In close games, it's often said it's a shame to see somebody lose. In Tuesday's opener of the Collinsville Class AA Softball Regional, it was almost a shame to see somebody win.

It was a particular shame for the Lady Warriors to see Jerseyville edge them 15-13 in a game nobody seemed to want to win. There were 28 runs, 22 hits, 20 walks, nine errors and numerous fundamental mistakes. Eighth-seeded Granite City finished at 3-18 while Jerseyville — the only team seeded below the Lady Warriors — improved to 4-20. The Panthers face top-seeded Civic Memorial today in Bethalto.

"It sure seemed that nobody wanted to win," said Jerseyville coach Larry Imming. "We'd take the lead and give it up. Then they would lose control."

"It was a good example of giving one away," said Granite City coach John Hutchings. "We just didn't want it badly enough."

Katie Schroeder led Jerseyville with three hits — including a home run — and four RBIs. (See SOFTBALL, Page 10B)

Wrestling clinic at GCC in July

A wrestling clinic directed by Notre Dame University assistant coach Chris Whelan will be held at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College on July 29-31.

The camp will run from 9-11:30 a.m. and again from 2-3:30 p.m. each day. The cost is $55 and includes a T-shirt.

He was a member of the 1983 Greco-Roman World Team and a three-time National Greco champion. Al Kirgan is the head judo coach at BAC and a high school teammate of Whelan's. Kirgan is a 2nd degree black belt in judo and a three-time All-American. He was a member of the World Judo Team from 1985-87 and is also the wrestling coach at Coolidge Junior High School. Sam Henson is a three-time Missouri state champion and a two-time National Greco-Roman champion. He was the Big 8 wrestling champion in 1991 at Missouri and made All-American as a freshman this year.

For more information on the clinic, call Kirgan at 451-1114.

Cougars go for it in 'Bama

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — A small field figures to lead to some high-scoring shootouts in the NCAA Division II World Series. The SIUE Cougars will head south with plenty of ammunition. The Cougars (42-15) open play in the eight-team double elimination nationals in Montgomery, Ala., on Sunday with a 7 p.m. game against the University of California-Riverside. Paterson Field in Montgomery is a hitter's paradise in the power alleys and to straightaway center field.

That suits SIUE coach Gary Collins just fine, since he's taking a Cougar team which has shattered seven previous school single-season records. Collins will take his chances in a high-scoring tournament.

"I thought this team was capable of winning 40 games and getting to the World Series," said Collins, who is coaching his third Series team in 13 years. "We've done it, although it's been a little different than I thought it would be. There have been some disappointments, but there have also been some nice surprises."

The surprises might include SIUE's quartet of Granite City players — although their performances are no surprise to those who saw them play in pre-Cougar days.

"Where would we be without our Granite City players?" Collins said, repeating a question as if humbled by the thought. "It would be hard to find four players somewhere else who have done all the things they have done."

That's an understatement. Junior left fielder Tim Hogan has set school records for stolen bases (41), runs (72) and walks (49). Junior first baseman John Moad has set a new SIUE record with 23 doubles, and his 77 hits would be a new record if it weren't for teammates Tim Degener (88) and Chris Kabbes (78). The old record was held by Granite City's Daren DePew (75 in 1987).

In addition, senior righthander Darin Hendrickson has set a new school record with 102½ innings pitched this year while racking up a 9-4 record and a team-leading 3.34 ERA. Junior shortstop Jamie Hogan is batting .352 despite missing 25 games with a knee injury.

"John Moad has been a tremendous surprise," said Collins. "We knew he could be a good hitter, but nothing like this."

Moad is hitting .413 after an MVP performance in the North Central Regional last weekend. He was 10 for 14 with two home runs, four doubles and nine RBIs. He has a team-leading nine game-winning hits.

"Timmy Hogan has been everything we want in a leadoff man," said Collins. "I would hesitate to call him the best leadoff man we've had because we had Tim Gamble a few years ago and he was All-American. Jamie has come back from his injury better than I thought. He's just been tremendous at shortstop. It's too bad he missed all those games or he might be up there with the rest of them in numbers."

Hendrickson was by far the most experienced pitcher returning to the staff this year and has responded.

"Darin has done everything we've asked of him," Collins said. "He's been our most consistent pitcher and we've thrown him against all the best teams."

Pitching will be a concern in Montgomery, where the power alleys are 360 feet in right-center and 370 in left-center. It's only 380 feet to dead center (330 down the lines).

"Our pitching might not be as good as the other teams," said Collins. "Normally, teams that get this far have two guys who can just blow the doors off. We don't have anyone like that. But this is the best defensive team we've ever had. So our pitchers just have to make the other teams hit the ball and we'll catch most of them."

As a team, the Cougars are batting .351 and averaging 8.6 runs a game. Their team ERA is 4.27, but they've allowed only 31 unearned runs and committed 50 errors in 57 games.

Nurses receive certification

Pamela Wise
of Granite City

Local woman passes bar

Pamela J. Wise of Granite City, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Wise, graduated from Saint Louis University School of Law in January, recently passed her Missouri Bar Examination and was admitted to the practice of law on April 26.

Wise is a 1974 graduate of Granite City High School. She received a bachelor's degree in management in 1986 from Maryville College-St. Louis and a master's degree in business administration from Fontbonne College in 1988.

Wise has accepted a position with the law firm of Bono, Gollenberg, Hopkins and Bilbrey, P.C., with offices in Granite City and Wood River.

Three registered nurses in the Critical Care Department at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City recently received passing marks on the Critical Care Certification Exam.

Jae Lynn Kuberski, RN, BSN, Terry Stafford, RN, and Keith Werner, RN, passed the four-hour exam that covers topics such as: disease processes, anatomy, signs and symptoms and clinical lab and test data.

"This test was tougher than passing the state board," Stafford said.

"I had to see if I could do this, and I figured if I didn't pass it would be good experience anyway. I'm thrilled about passing."

Stafford, who resides in Alton, received her associate degree in nursing from Lewis and Clark Community College in Godfrey. She has worked at SEMC for four years — three in CCU. Werner is a resident of Madison and has been working in the Critical Care Department at SEMC for five years.

Kuberski, who lives in Granite City, received her bachelor's of science degree in nursing at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and has worked at SEMC for four years in AMCU and CCU.

"Passing the test increased my confidence in assessing the patient," Kuberski said.

"It wasn't an easy test — 200 questions in four hours — but the wide scope of knowledge I gained was worth all of the studying."

According to Kathy Gauen, Critical Care Care supervisor, SEMC now has nine nurses who have received passing marks on the CCRN exam.

"The exam is a great way for the nurses to apply theory to doing the job," Gauen said. "We are very proud of those associates who have worked hard to become CCRNs."

BAC appoints math instructor

Joanie Gregory of Granite City was recently appointed as a math instructor of the JTEPA (Joint Training Partnership Act) basic skills program at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College.

Gregory received a bachelor's degree in education from Arkansas State University and has taught adult education for the last 18 years.

She must recently taught for both the GED (General Education Development) and English as a second language programs at BAC.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Sometimes the purchasers of real estate will sign a sales contract indicating that the home is being sold "as is." What happens in this situation if the buyers later find a concealed defect in the home? Can they still sue for a breach of contract?

In one recent case, an attorney decided to purchase a home after twice inspecting the premises with his real estate agent. The contract indicated that the purchaser would receive a $500.00 credit to "cover the cost of all repairs regardless of actual cost or nature of any defects." The real estate contract also provided that the home would be sold "as is."

The lawyer took possession of the property, and two years later he discovered a problem while checking the insulation in the attic. He found evidence of fire damage which he characterized as concealed. He wrote several letters to the sellers complaining of the damage, and he requested that they remedy the situation. When the sellers refused to take any action, the buyer sued them for breach of contract.

The court had to decide whether the "as is" clause along with the $500.00 credit operated as a disclaimer of any contractual representations made by the seller, in order for an "as is" clause to relieve the seller of any contractual promises, the "as is" clause must have been both expected and bargained for.

The appellate court in this case ruled in favor of the seller, finding that there was no breach of contract. The court noted that the buyer not only knew that the home had been involved in the fire but also knew that some fire damage still existed. The court also emphasized that the attorney who bought the home was given complete freedom to inspect any portion of the residence. The appellate court felt that he could have easily checked the attic when he inspected the home before purchasing it. Therefore, the "as is" clause in the sales contract meant that the seller could not be liable for breach of contract in this situation.

The lesson to be learned from this case is that real estate buyers should be extremely wary of signing a contract which contains an "as is" clause. Thorough inspection of the property should be made before the closing, and every attempt should be made by the buyer to have such a clause removed from the contract itself.

TV stations backslide with special series

It was, perhaps, too much to hope for. After a promising beginning in which the local television news departments appeared to be emphasizing relevant information for this important ratings month, there has been some backsliding.

During the week of May 6, KMOV-TV (Channel 4) offered a series called "Violation of Trust," the first two segments of which rehearsed cases in which medical professionals allegedly had sexually assaulted or seduced patients. The cases had been thoroughly explicated previously, and as far as I could tell, the station added no new information. There did not seem to be any attempt to put the cases in context, or to explore the scope of the problem of sexual assault by medical professionals. In other words, the viewers got two sexually oriented stories apparently told just for the sake of telling them.

There were three other segments in the series, one of which detailed the performance of a doctor accused of performing unnecessary tests in order to collect the fees. That and the concluding piece, which offered some tips on selecting a doctor, had some merit.

KTVI-TV (Channel 2), meanwhile, gave us a series of three stories about Arsenio Hall, who happens to be the host of a show that runs on that station at 10:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The series, reported by Don Johnson and produced by Mitch Pinger, was nicely packaged, and in fact, provided an interesting look at Hall. As an entertainer, he was good. The problem is they did not offer much news value. And speaking of a self-serving project, KSDK-TV (Channel 5) took its best shot with a long story on actor Michael Landon's appearance on "The Tonight Show." Landon, of course, is in the news as a popular actor who has been diagnosed as having a fatal disease. A report about what he had done and said on the program perhaps would have been a legitimate news item. The problem is that the story was run immediately before "The Tonight Show," segment aired. That's self-promotion!

Channel 4's 10 p.m. anchors seem to be taking a folksy approach to the audience.

In two newscasts in the week of May 6, the anchors were guilty of uttering the following: "Larry Conners, on the passage of the Brady Bill by the House of Representatives, 'Is Congress taking the first step to denying you the right to bear arms.'" Straight out of the National Rifle Association book of propaganda.

Julius Hunter, on Whitney Houston's recent legal difficulties. She was charged with "punching out a man." Complications resulting from the sale of TWA's London routes. Recent developments might nullify "the whole darn transaction."

Dyan Cannon turns toward directing

By Mason Wiley
Correspondent

Dyan Cannon, the effervescent actress, has turned to directing. Until now, her career has been highlighted by her Oscar nominated roles in Paul Mazursky's "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice" (1969, Goodtimes, $14.95) and Warren Beatty's "Heaven Can Wait" (1978, Paramount, $14.95). She also starred in the great trash soap opera movies "Doctor's Wives" (1976, RCA/Columbia, $69.95) and "The Love Machine" (1972, RCA/Columbia, $69.95).

Her new directorial effort, now on video, is a blend of comedy and suds called "The End of Innocence" (1990, Paramount, no list price).

In addition to directing and starring in the film, Cannon also wrote the screenplay, giving herself a part designed to show her range in a way that none of her previous roles have. In other words, the movie turns from a satiric look at sexual relationships into a drama inside an asylum.

The film starts with a shot from inside the womb, as our heroine is born. We hear her mother screaming. "It still hurts, it still hurts." As the nurse reaches to cut the umbilical cord, Mom screams, "Don't hurt me."

Thus begins a number of short scenes documenting the heroine's rocky relationship with her nagging parents (amusingly portrayed by George Coo and Lala Mason), who always advise her to get married before learning about sex.

By the time the child has grown into actress Rebecca Schaeffer, who engagingly plays Cannon's character (from the ages of 18 to 25, she's already making all the wrong moves with boys. Her attempt to give herself to her prom date is a short but not sweet affair. Afterwards, she agonizes that her nonvirgin status has cost her future chances.

Dyan Cannon... wrote, starred, directed

In a montage that recalls Orson Welles' depiction of the disintegrating first marriage of Charles Foster Kane in "Citizen Kane," Cannon deftly shows the heroine's early bad marriage to a looker named David (James Holmes). As the girlfriend who sets them up on the date says, "The thing is, he's been married a few times; he probably won't want to get married again."

Of course, the heroine and the heel elope without telling her parents, and a series of headshots of Schaeffer and Holmes shows us how adoration can turn to destructive boredom. By the end of their union, this very modern heroine has turned to pot, pills and junk food.

Cannon assumes the leading role as our heroin becomes involved with a struggling writer (Steve Meadows). "He's the one I'm going to spend my life with," she announces to Mom and Dad, both of whom tell her, "He's too young for you!" Mom adds the pleasant prophecy, "He'll be looking for a younger woman." "Not if I stay in shape, he won't," responds Cannon, who then becomes an exercise freak, between her pot-pills-junk food binges.

By the time the writer's unfaithfulness is clear to Cannon, Mom comes barging into her house with her suitcase, exclaiming, "I'm leaving your father." Quite understandably, Cannon suffers a nervous breakdown.

The last third of the movie takes place in a rehab center, where, under the wise guidance of a therapist (John Heard), Cannon pulls herself together. Unlike the quick and sharp tone of the earlier part of the movie, these scenes are played as straight drama and aren't nearly as enjoyable, although the acting remains just as good.

The heroine's rehabilitation turns out not to be as entertaining as her downfall, particularly since the latter is depicted through pat "life-affirming" scenes.

Despite its disappointing conclusion, "The End of Innocence" will strike a chord of recognition within any adult who's been in dead-end relationships or argued with parents. If you want laughs, stick with "Revenge of the Pink Panther" (1978, CBS/Fox, $29.98), in which Cannon is a delightful partner-in-mischief with Peter Sellers.
